OF
SOUTHERN AMERICANA.

COMPILED BY
JOHN F. B. LILLARD, LIBRARIAN.
NEW YORK,

PUBLISHED FOR THE SOCIETY,

NEW YORK SOUTHERN SOCIETY. LIBRARY.

At the last annual meeting it was announced that one of the members of the Society was engaged in collecting a Southern Historical Library, which he proposed to give to the Society. A thousand volumes, carefully selected, have already been placed in the "Home" as the first instalment of this gift.

By resolution of the Society, the library will be called the "Garden Library."

The catalogue embraces many rare and valuable, and, in some instances, almost unknown works, histories, biographies, essays, memoirs, speeches and novels portraying every phase of Southern life and character. Here will be found books, social, political, religious and military, by authors whose names are inseparably associated with the history of our country, providing material for the future historian which he could not otherwise obtain.

It has been deemed of the greatest importance, not only to Southerners residing here, but to Southerners everywhere, that there should be a library in this great city, in which may be found at all times documentary authority upon every subject relating to the history, literature and institutions of the South. Every effort will be made to carry out this object, and make this library a distinctive and attractive feature of the Society.
